Dear Mr. Shtern,

Thank you for your recent email to our office. Mr. McGuinty appreciates hearing from constituents and individuals who genuinely care about the environment.

Mr. McGuinty takes his role as the opposition critic for the environment very seriously and is committed to holding the government accountable for their actions. In this capacity, he also firmly believes in working together with other parliamentarians to come up with a workable solution to the shortcomings of the current government on the environment portfolio. He understands that Canadians depend on it as evident in your email.

Thanks again for taking the time to express your thoughts on this very important issue. Due to the large volume of correspondence received, it is not always possible to reply to everyone. But I will ensure that Mr. McGuinty has an opportunity to carefully review your email.

Sincerely,

Office of David McGuinty
